Green Tech vs National Security

Jorge Zavala on Embracing Three Truths: Personal, Political, and Objective

Questionnaire Answers – combined GPUS and GPUT

1. Core Message: Why did you choose to run for the Green Party Presidential nomination?

Jorge Zavala

I'm driven by an internal fire to run for president with the Green Party, fueled by frustration at seeing America fall short. I possess the skills, expertise, and passion to steer the country towards a brighter future. I long to create a better tomorrow for myself and for the United States, one where we can harness our collective potential to address the challenges that have held us back. I'm determined to channel my energy and experience toward making a meaningful difference, and I believe that together, we can alter the course of our nation's path and create a future that we can all be proud of.

In order to bring the power of democracy into the hands of the commonwealth, it is imperative for America to adopt a new stance and position. This can be achieved by implementing inclusive methods that encourage citizens to actively participate in democratic procedures.

One crucial step in this direction is the engagement in signing petitions, which allows the collective voice of the people to be heard and strengthens their influence in decision-making processes.

Moreover, it is crucial to establish informative cabinets that provide transparency in the functioning of the government. This transparency includes divulging financial obligations, and procedural details of the House, and ensuring that citizens have easy access to this information. By allowing citizens to see and understand the inner workings of the government, a greater level of accountability can be fostered.

Lastly, three foundational democratic principles must be firmly established: transparency, accountability, and informed participation. Transparency ensures that citizens are aware of the motives, actions, and decisions of their elected representatives. Accountability holds those representatives responsible for their actions and ensures they are answerable to the commonwealth.

Informed participation emphasizes the importance of providing citizens with the necessary information and resources to actively engage in the democratic process.

By embracing these principles and involving citizens in a transparent and accountable democratic system, the power of democracy will truly reside in the hands of the Commonwealth. This not only strengthens the influence and involvement of the people but also upholds the essence of democracy as a government of, by, and for the people.

2. Party Building: What role do you see the Presidential Campaign playing in the larger picture of the Green Party of the U.S.?

Jorge Zavala

The presidential campaign is the most critical role for the Green Party, as it represents the party's focal point and purpose. The Green Party's reason for existence is to promote environmental sustainability, social justice, and equal opportunity. A presidential candidate who embodies these values and can articulate a clear vision for a better future is essential to lead the party and inspire the American people. By nominating a candidate who defends and protects the Constitution and champions the principles of democracy, the Green Party can demonstrate its commitment to creating a more just and equitable society. Ultimately, the presidential campaign is an opportunity for the Green Party to showcase its values and policies, and to earn the trust and respect of the American people.

For the Green Party to grow and flourish, it is crucial to prioritize inclusion and accountability measures.

The party needs to actively engage and support its own policies, recognizing and reinforcing its campaign efforts. This unity and drive empower each other and create a solid foundation for legislative creation or reform. Without a united front, the Green Party risks being weak and overshadowed by the Democrats and Republicans. To distinguish ourselves and gain respect, we must take risks and lead by example. We must earn the support of the American citizens and the commonwealth through consistent citizen engagement. When accountability measures are not enforced, it is imperative to remove board members who fail to practice, accommodate, and educate the commonwealth. By embracing these principles, the Green Party can pave the way for growth, and development, and play a pivotal role in shaping the future of our nation.

3. Describe your Key positions and Campaign Themes.

I aim to be remembered for my unwavering audacity, determination, and strategic intelligence. I'm willing to take on challenges, face resistance, and lead the way for others to follow. By believing in myself and empowering others, I plan to bring about growth and development. The key to change lies in Americans believing in themselves and never giving up. Noah is not an answer; action and resilience are essential to achieving progress.

As a presidential candidate for the Green Party, I am committed to implementing key policies that prioritize the environment, inclusivity, transparency, sustainable energy, and economic growth. These policies aim to address pressing environmental issues, ensure citizen participation and transparency in governance, reduce dependency on harmful industries, and promote job creation and economic stability.

Policy 1: Environmental Assessment and Protection - We will conduct thorough assessments to define and measure the negative impacts of industrial waste runoff, oil and gas pollution, nuclear hazards, and environmental barriers. By understanding these dangers, we can develop effective strategies to mitigate their harmful effects and prioritize environmental conservation.

Policy 2: Inclusion and Citizen Voices - Protection of farmers, historical national parks, and recreational areas is of utmost importance. We will ensure that citizens' voices are heard, granting them the opportunity to express their concerns and contribute to informed decision-making, thereby maintaining a balanced approach to environmental and social policies.

Policy 3: Transparency in Governance - Transparency is vital for citizen trust and participation. We will enforce transparency measures within the House of Representatives and the executive branch to provide citizens with a clear understanding of policies and bills. This will allow for informed acceptance, concerns, and constructive input from the commonwealth.

Policy 4: Sustainable Energy and Technological Development - To reduce dependency on harmful capitalistic industries, we will actively promote and support the expansion, implementation, and encouragement of energy and technological programs and businesses that prioritize renewable energy sources. This will help drive a shift towards sustainable practices and protect our environment for future generations.

Policy 5: Job Creation and Economic Growth - We recognize the importance of a robust workforce and economic stability. Our plan includes expanding vocational training and job placement opportunities after higher education. Additionally, we will reform social security work programs to strengthen economic growth and ensure a prosperous future for all, while also working towards strengthening the American dollar. These key policies demonstrate our commitment to environmental stewardship, inclusivity, government transparency, sustainable energy, and economic growth.

By electing me as president, we can work together to build a greener, fairer, and more prosperous nation.

4. Please describe your history of activism with the Green Party, allied organizations, or a constituency that is supported by the Ten Key Values.

As an active member of the Green Party for the past 13 years, I've been a leader in my community, setting the standard for green business practices. I've consistently demonstrated that eco-friendliness and accessibility can coexist, and have inspired others to adopt sustainable practices. Through my business, I've shown that individuals with disabilities can be successful entrepreneurs, and have made a positive impact on the environment and our communities. My commitment to sustainability and accessibility has been unwavering, and I will continue to lead by example, driving positive change and innovation in the years to come.

I have been living in harmony with nature and reducing my impact on the environment, embodying the Green Party's key value of Ecological Wisdom. Through my eco-friendly business practices, I have demonstrated that sustainability and accessibility can go hand-in-hand. I have inspired others to adopt sustainable practices and have made a positive impact on the environment and our communities, all while overcoming my visual impairment. My commitment to ecological wisdom has been unwavering, and I will continue to lead by example, driving positive change and innovation in the years to come.

I have embodied the Green Party's value of Grassroots Democracy by rooting my business practices in my community and fostering participatory democracy. Through my eco-friendly and accessible business model, I have empowered local individuals and organizations to take action towards sustainability and inclusivity. By listening to and responding to the needs of my community, I have created a business that truly serves and reflects the values of the people around me. I believe that this grassroots approach to democracy is essential for creating meaningful and lasting change, and I will continue to prioritize community involvement and participation in all aspects of my work.

5. Describe how your campaign platform aligns with the GPUS Platform. If there are any areas where your platform does not align, please elaborate.

My platform aligns with the Green Party's values of democracy, integrity, inclusion, transparency, and giving power to the people. I believe in empowering the Commonwealth to have a voice in government and ensuring their votes count. Additionally, I aim to expose how money corrupts politics and hinders the growth of small, practical green technologies. By promoting transparency and accountability, I hope to create a more inclusive and sustainable future for all.

Key to unlock economic growth The Techno Dollar is my proposal to convert the American dollar to the techno dollar, which will be backed by Taiwan's technology, and bring Taiwan into American territory, giving America technological dominance. Additionally, I plan to convert the peso into the American dollar, reestablishing new treaties, trade, immigration, and industrial growth to support and balance the economy. This approach sets me apart from other candidates, as I'm focused on leveraging technology and strategic partnerships to strengthen the American economy and create a more sustainable future.

My platform aligns with the Green Party's commitment to disarmament and opposition to nuclear armament and nuclear power. I advocate for enforcing policies that promote disarmament and reducing the threat of nuclear weapons, as well as transitioning away from nuclear power due to its inherent risks and dangers. This includes addressing the hazardous waste and environmental impacts associated with nuclear power, and promoting international cooperation to reduce nuclear tensions and promote peaceful solutions.

My platform aligns with the Green Party's commitment to fair, equal, and social justice by advocating for a non-partisan, ranked-choice voting system that removes the stranglehold of the Democratic and Republican parties. Additionally, I believe that all individuals including people with disabilities should have the ability to represent themselves fairly in court, without being dependent on expensive attorneys. This is a critical example of how American democracy is failing its citizens, as those with means have greater access to justice, while others are left behind. By promoting accessible and affordable legal resources, we can empower people with disabilities and strengthen our democracy."

By collaborating with these entities, we can cultivate participation, inclusion, and social growth. These partnerships provide opportunities to leverage shared resources and expertise, collectively addressing environmental and social challenges. Together, we can drive impactful change, promoting sustainability, social justice, and community development.
